O&M: Please review attached list of items that are O&M related to see if we should ship them here. I know we left some tools for Mark to use until closure. However, even when the FED's depart the facility this Summer there will be a property disposal procedure so O&M activities will not coincide with the FED departure. Hence, it's feasible that some O&M tasks will stay in place until GSA or some other FED disposal mechanism fully moves it off our plate. I would say the O&M priority at this point is consolidating what is present; if we'll never need it here please indicate that it will stay through final disposal vs shipping here. If you have an item to ship here please identify.

Everyone,

Attached is a spreadsheet with all the ORD property allegedly still at Grosse Ile -- this is the non-real estate property that has not been reported as recycled, donated, or transferred to R5, CID, the USFWS, etc.

I gave this spreadsheet to Deb Caudill who has generously volunteered to find everything on the sheet that she can. That said, I suspect she will not find it all.

I'd like this to be the absolute last call to freight anything up here -- if no one claims it now, it is going to GSA or the recycling.

Jay/Sean -- please give a last look at the equipment that is located in the Grosse Ile boat shop, carpentry shop, boiler room, and tin hanger and see if any of it looks worth the cost of trucking it up here.

Mary/Stephanie/Sarah -- please look over the whole list and see if you want anything, given the cost of getting it from there to here.

If anyone needs a price estimate on the transport of any particular item, let me know. Right now, I have Yellow Freight on speed dial.

Once I know what, if anything, that people want, I will decide what I want to put on the GSA property transfer system as excess EPA property (probably won't be much) and what can be recycled/disposed of. Any attempt to get rid of anything through GSA is complicated by us not knowing when the building will be vacated -- is R5, with a tentative leaving date of July 19, the only tenants left in the property? Obviously, we cannot recycle their lawnmower, etc., until the EPA is completely free of responsibility for the building.

Can we abandon the building to GSA with anything left in it, or is it our duty to hand the building over to GSA empty and clean?

So, please look over the spreadsheet, and thank you,

Deb
